Lone Star Corporate College has footprints throughout North Harris and Montgomery counties with corporate partners who recognize the importance of delivering solutions specifically to meet the needs of their workforce. Meeting managers and trainees in their own work environment and training at your facility saves time, increases employee investment and allows for more immediate transfer of skills. Several of Houston’s leading corporations partner with LSCC to ensure the best continuing education for their employees, including:

- Anadarko
- Baker Hughes
- FMC Technologies
- GE Oil & Gas
- Halliburton
- National Oilwell Varco
- Hewlett Packard
- Stevens Transport
- Tenaris
- Union Pacific Railroad

Halliburton

Improving retention, increasing employee satisfaction and adding value to the company’s bottom line—that’s what Halliburton Security DBS’s training partnership with Lone Star Corporate College is yielding—and then some, according to Halliburton officials.

Montgomery County Hospital District

The Montgomery County Hospital District’s (MCHD) EMS group serves a fast-growing and diverse population. Like with many other organizations, there is a growing emphasis on gathering and communicating data effectively, and also in developing and retaining quality employees. Allen Johnson, chief administrative officer at MCHD engaged Lone Star Corporate College to deliver two types of training.

Stewart & Stevenson

Stewart & Stevenson approached Lone Star Corporate College to provide Cultural Diversity Classes as part of a larger internal training initiative. Roy Allice, director of training & technical services was overwhelmed by the positive support Lone Star College added.

What our partners say about Lone Star Corporate College

“More than 100 of our employees have taken advantage of the training that the college provides—not only our drill bit fabricators, welders and machinists, but also employees in customer service, procurement and planning benefit from the training. The best part is that much of the training can be funded via a grant from the Texas Workforce Commission.”

— Sean Ellis, training manager, Halliburton Security DBS

“Our staff was very pleased with the flexible approach of the college faculty and their willingness to meet individual needs. The instructor’s style accommodated a wide spectrum of personalities and demographics.”

— Allen Johnson, chief administrative officer, Montgomery County Hospital District

“I want to commend Lone Star Corporate College for the two Cultural Diversity Classes. Lone Star’s presentation was very professional and the course of instruction with real life scenarios was extremely relevant. All of the feedback from Stewart & Stevenson’s training staff was excellent and several of the supervisors have requested additional classes for other departments. The project was a success.”

— Roy Allice, director of training & technical services, Stewart & Stevenson

LONE STAR COLLEGE ENERGY & MANUFACTURING INSTITUTE
The Lone Star College Energy & Manufacturing Institute (EMI) is a hub for businesses with employees currently working or seeking a career in the oil and gas, alternative energy, or mechanized (automated) production industries. Customized training has been ongoing since the institute was formed in 2011.

Lone Star College has plans to expand current offerings through the construction of a new EMI building, a two-level, 80,000 square-foot facility, to be located at the LSC-University Park campus at State Highway 249 and Louetta Road. Currently, EMI staff members and instructors work from space at LSC-University Park and the other Lone Star Colleges.

Professional Development Studies
Lone Star Corporate College also offers seminars that can help professionals complete licensure or certification requirements. Offered on a continuous basis throughout the year, these specialized seminars and workshops incorporate a variety of subject areas, including energy and manufacturing, business and leadership, technology, legal, safety, and health care. These events range in length from a few hours to a few weeks. Go to LoneStar.edu/Professional-Seminars for a complete list of upcoming events.
