Special Programs

Paraprofessional Cohort Program

The Paraprofessional Cohort provides a pathway to an Educator Preparation Program. Incorporating paraeducators' valuable work experiences into the EDUC 1301 and EDUC 2301 courses creates a distinctive, hands-on learning environment. These unique courses are especially designed to meet the needs of paraprofessionals. Not only are pedagogy and educational philosophies taught, but paraprofessionals learn more about independent school district policies which prepare them effectively for future interviews. With rich discussions, special speakers and collaborative projects, paraeducators are fully prepared to transfer to a university program where they can reach their goals of becoming a Texas certified teacher.

Future Professional Educators Club

This active student club for future teachers is affiliated with the Association of Texas Professional Educators (ATPE). Club participants receive a free membership to this professional association. Additionally, students discuss current trends with education, volunteer within educational communities, visit area high schools to recruit future AAT students and participate in social events with other future teachers.
