The business administration program prepares a diverse group of students to succeed as the future managers and leaders within our local communities. The program supports students’ needs to acquire skills that will allow them to establish a career and/or become more productive in their current organizations. We are particularly committed to helping students become professionals who are capable of thinking critically, working in teams, utilizing technology, performing research, making decisions, and communicating ideas effectively in a global economy.

An associate of applied science (AAS) in business administration with a human resource specialty emphasizes developing varied skills for a range of jobs, for entry-level work in the human resources. The program helps students develop skills in employment practices, recruiting, employee relations, equal employment laws, employee communications, benefits and compensation, Human Resource Information Systems (HRIS), training and development, as well as organizational behavior. Individuals who are looking to advance their careers in human resources, can take courses to help prepare for industry level certifications, such as the Professional Human Resources (PHR).
