The associate of applied science in cosmetology with a specialty in facial/esthetics is designed to prepare the student with the skills and knowledge required for an entry-level position in the facial/esthetics profession.

Facial treatment specialists often work in spas and salons, and some provide skin care services in medical facilities. Other professionals in this field apply treatments and sell make-up in shopping centers or department stores. Common duties for skin care specialists include providing facial massages, applying wax treatments, sanitizing equipment and selling skin care products. Good candidates for this career would be interested in topics like fashion or beauty and would have excellent people skills.

Programs At-A-Glance

Cosmetology Facial AAS
Available at LSC-Kingwood and LSC-North Harris
LoneStar.edu/Cosmetology-Facial-AAS

Facial Specialist Certificate
Available at LSC-Kingwood and LSC-North Harris
LoneStar.edu/Facial-Specialist-Certificate

The LSC-North Harris cosmetology program is held at the CHI LSC-North Harris School of Cosmetology, a unique partnership which includes the world-renowned methods and products of Farouk Systems, Inc.

FOR MORE INFORMATION:
LaKeysha Jones
832.234.5606
LaKeysha.Y.Jones@LoneStar.edu
LSC-North Harris

FOR MORE INFORMATION:
Judith Watson
281.312.1545
Judith.Watson@LoneStar.edu
LSC-Kingwood

LoneStar.edu/Cosmetology-Facial-AAS
Complete your Cosmetology Facial AAS in 2 years!

Representative career titles and job positions for this program plan include:

• Esthetician
• Spa Technician
• Skin Care Specialist

Median Wage: $26,056

*Position titles vary by employer and location.