Lone Star College Employees:

As you know, there have been a series of incidents directed against Asian Americans in the United States.

I’m sharing a statement from the American Association of Community Colleges that best exemplifies where Lone Star College stands on this and any other form of discrimination and violence against others.

You might not know that 8.5% of Lone Star College students identify themselves as Asian American.

While we’ve had no specific issues at Lone Star College, I trust you would agree that there is no place for this in the United States. Faculty, this message will be shared with students but it would be helpful if you could reinforce the general notion that discrimination of any kind is detrimental to the basic tenets of our country.

Thank you.

AACC Statement on Racist Attacks

The American Association of Community Colleges (AACC) strongly condemns the rise in hate crimes against Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders in the United States. The recent report that shows the increase in targeted hate incidents against the Asian American and Pacific Islander communities spotlights the critical need to be unwavering advocates for anti-racist education and action.

AACC stands with the Asian American and Pacific Islander community and all marginalized people that continue to experience racism, hate, discrimination, and violence. Our thoughts and prayers are with those that have experienced these troubling incidents. However, we are fully aware that we must continue to take intentional actions against racism in all its forms.
